Challenging a FileMaker Certification Exam Item

To ensure that exams are not misleading, ambiguous or biased, each exam item is analyzed by a panel of independent technical and job-function experts who review each item to ensure clarity, technical accuracy and the relevance of each item.

Steps for challenging exam items

Within three calendar days of taking an exam, please send an email to fmcertification@filemaker.com with "Exam Item Evaluation" in the subject line. You must submit a separate email for each exam item you challenge, providing your contact information, registration ID, the number and name of the exam, date and location of the testing center where you took the exam, and describing in detail the specific reasons you are challenging the item. Please provide as much information as possible about the item for review. Challenges will not be accepted for review unless all required information is provided. Do not take any screenshots of the exam.

Note: Exam item challenges will be accepted only for exams that have not been scheduled for retirement. FileMaker will acknowledge your challenge by email and you will receive either the result of the review or an estimate of when you can anticipate a decision.

You agree to the terms and conditions set forth in the FileMaker Certification Exam Terms and Conditions and not to compromise the integrity or confidentiality of any exam or certification program. Any violation of this policy may result in a lifetime ban on all future FileMaker exams, voiding of any previous FileMaker certifications and any other remedies available to FileMaker at law or in equity.

Confidentiality

The exams and the answers thereto are the sole property and confidential information of FileMaker. By taking the exams, you represent that you have read and agree to be bound by the terms and conditions set forth in the FileMaker Certification Exam Terms and Conditions.

Electronic agreement

You must review the FileMaker Certification Exam Terms and Conditions prior to taking the exam. By taking the exam, you acknowledge and agree to be bound by the terms. If you do not agree to these terms, you are not eligible to participate in the exam.

Exam security and integrity

FileMaker strongly protects the integrity of the FileMaker Certification Exam Program. FileMaker reserves the right to prohibit or ban an individual from taking the FileMaker Certification Exam or to decertify as a FileMaker Certified Developer any individual who violates this Agreement or engages in any misconduct. FileMaker and test center proctors are authorized to take immediate appropriate measures against any individual violating testing rules.

Examples of misconduct include, but are not limited to:

- Submission of work that is not entirely your own
- Attempting to provide or accept improper assistance
- Attempting to use unauthorized materials (including, but not limited to publication of Exam questions or answers and brain dump material)
- Possession of unauthorized items at a testing center during an Exam
- Any misconduct as determined by data or statistical analysis
- Alteration or modification of any Exam records
- Impersonating another individual to gain access to the Exam
- Violating the Exam Retake Policy
- Any act to copy, publish, distribute, sell, reverse engineer, decompile, disassemble, translate or otherwise disseminate any Exam or portion of an Exam

FileMaker expressly reserves all rights and remedies available at law or in equity arising out of a breach of the FileMaker Certification Exam Terms and Conditions this agreement or any infringement of FileMaker's intellectual property rights to the exams.

Exam Scoring

Some exams may include questions that are worth more than one point as they ask students to select more than one answer. So while a score could indicate that a student earned 52 out of 64, the exam might only include 60 questions. A student had the potential to get 64 answers correct, not 64 questions correct. In most cases each item is worth one point; however, some questions or question types may be worth more than one point. FileMaker does not provide information about how many points specific items are worth.

Exam scores are presented with two decimal places of precision (e.g., 72.93%). Scores are NOT rounded up: students must earn enough points to meet or surpass an exam's passing score in order to pass that exam. For example, if an exam's passing score is 73%, 72.93% is NOT a passing grade.
